Conflict Minerals compliance statement

Dear customer,

conflict minerals are minerals mined in conditions of armed conflict and human rights abuses, notably in the eastern provinces of the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC), by the Congolese National Army, and various armed rebel groups, including the Democratic Forces for the Liberation of Rwanda (FDLR) and the National Congress for the Defense of the People (CNDP), a proxy Rwandan militia group. The most commonly mined minerals are cassiterite, wolframite, coltan, and gold, which are extracted from Eastern Congo, and passed through a variety of intermediaries before being purchased by multinational electronics companies.

We can confirm that none of these conflict minerals, in particular tantalum, tin, gold, and tungsten are intentionally added during the manufacture of our products. However please be aware that traces of minerals or metal ions, and naturally occurring impurities cannot be excluded.

We hope we could be helpful with this information.

Kind regards
